The many excellent term projects and semester reports which are turned in by the students of Washington High School are evidence of our fine library.

With the help and supervision of our librarian, Miss Underhill, students realize the pleasure and understanding which can be derived from books.

ACHIEVEMENT . . .
AWARDS . . .

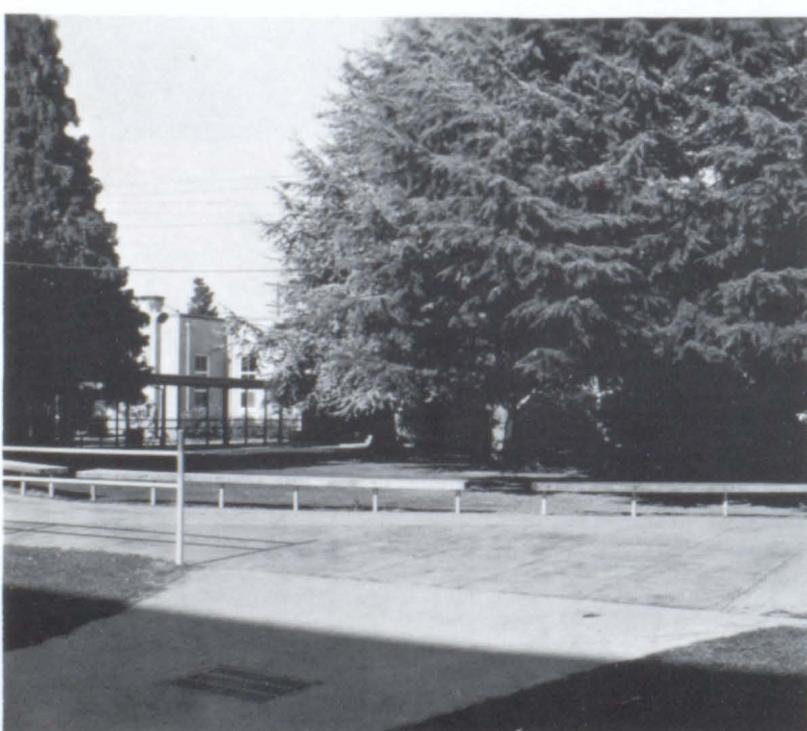

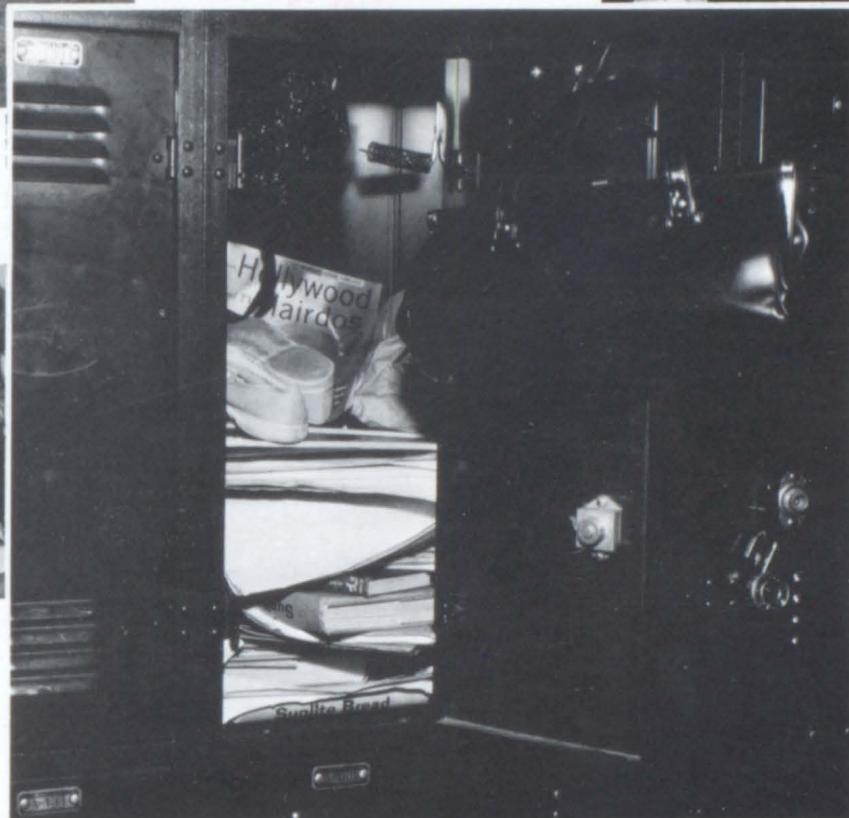

Since 1892 new faces, courses, and buildings have come into the scene at Washington High. For seventy years, these halls have reflected the feelings of ambition and determination from those students who have taken from it education, and given to it their loyalty and pride.

Pride and devotion should be felt by every student, through his own feelings and accomplishments. These accomplishments are expressed either by individual or united achievements.

Education is a stream of possibilities and knowledge, which flows unceasingly from the classes of Washington High School.

"OUR THOUGHTS WILL E'ER TURN BACK"

---

To thee our Alma Mater
Our thoughts will e'er turn back
We rally round the banner
The Orange and the Black
The light and truth and knowledge
Forever will prevail
O Washington we love thee
All hail! All hail!

DEDICATION

The class of 1963 takes pride and pleasure in dedicating this year's Washingtonian to Mr. Don Wolfe, our Vice Principal.

We wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Wolfe, whose patient understanding and pleasant personality have greatly helped student morale.

His warm sense of humor and wonderful spirit have helped to create a pleasant and friendly atmosphere at Washington High School.

The entire student body joins with us in expressing our appreciation and admiration.

To you, Mr. Wolfe, this Washingtonian is respectfully dedicated.

Don't let the flame go out!

Seventeen or eighteen years ago, when you were born into this rapidly moving world, a flame was lighted within you—a desire to learn about your new world. Think back to the days when you were a child and to those many questions you asked. Where do the stars go in the daytime? What makes the wheel go around? The curiosity of a young child is seemingly endless.

I suspect that this inner flame is about the same size in all of us on the first day, but as time passes, something different happens to each individual. For some, there is more fuel added, and the flame grows brighter as the years pass; but for others, the flame gradually dies down, so that there is just the slightest flicker remaining. No matter how small the flame becomes, don't let it go out. Nurture it; keep it alive! As long as there is the faintest spark, there is a chance it will burn brightly again. It needs only the proper fuel.

During the past twelve years, we, your teachers, have tried to provide that fuel, experiences which would keep your flame burning brightly. We have succeeded in some cases and failed miserably in others. Regardless of the outcome, it now becomes your individual responsibility to keep the inner light aglow, for as long as there is a future, there is hope that the flame will burst forth again. No one has expressed the importance of keeping the flame alive more adequately than Albert Schweitzer in his Memoirs of Childhood:

"Sometimes our light goes out but is blown again into flame by an encounter with another human being. Each of us owes the deepest thanks to those who have rekindled this inner light."

For each of you, that "encounter with another human being" may be just around the corner, so . . . don't let the flame go out!

The ten students who rank highest scholastically in the Senior Class comprise the Top Ten.

This year the grade averages of the Top Ten range from 3.946 to 3.556.

The length of attendance at Washington High is not considered for this honor. In fact, only five of the ten have attended Washington all four years of high school.

Washington High School would like to congratulate these students on their scholastic achievement.

This house, on a farm in Bavaria was Manfred's home for 6 years.

The American Field Service, which sponsors Washington High's exchange student program, sent us Manfred Fichter from Hannover, Germany this year. While staying with the Walter Hartzell family, Manfred is observing the American way of life.

PUERTO RICO TRIP

Walking along the pebble stone streets of San Juan, many trees provide shade for the "siesta seekers."

Mary Lou Brown, Patrice Vannoy, Peggy Burnside, Mary Allison and Dennis Hall went to San Juan for a Spanish course given at the University of Puerto Rico this summer.

Leaving June 17, they stayed with Puerto Rican families for 6 weeks. They were able to spend this summer through the help of Mr. Patrick, a former teacher at Washington.

A tour given to the group through La Casa Blanca, the first home of Ponce de Leon.

ENGLISH.

A senior English class listens to an amusing passage from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

Washington's English Department offers an outstanding program in language arts. In the freshman and sophomore years, the fundamentals of grammar are stressed, along with an introduction to various literary genres. This year a new concept has been adopted in the junior year, during which students survey American Literature. The change was made to improve the program of instruction. Large group meetings make possible the presentation of lecture material and give the students practice in taking notes. The senior year is devoted to a survey of English Literature.

(3)

A large group of juniors listen to a lecture on American novelists.

A group of freshmen discuss a short story by Hemingway.

Sophomore students listen attentively to a book review.

MICS

The social science seminar explores social problems from a philosophical viewpoint.

Through the use of a time line, the world history class explores ancient civilizations.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department offers a four year course of study. In the freshman year, students are introduced to our world and its people. World history is offered in the sophomore year as an elective. In the junior year, the Social Studies and English departments combine to offer a chronological survey of both U.S. History and American Literature. Prominent economic and political problems are analyzed in Current Problems the senior year. A special course entitled Social Science Seminar is offered for students interested in philosophical approaches to world problems.

A current problems class delves into the current political issues.

Students of U. S. history discuss the problems of colonial America.

Students muse over a German exam.

Mr. Arenas operates the control panel for the 32 booths in the language lab.

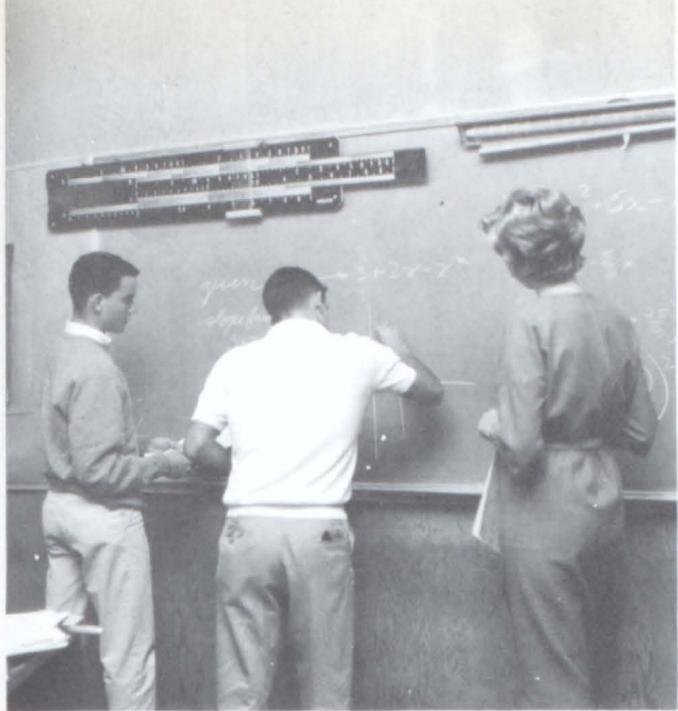

A Latin student seeks help from Mr. McCrystal.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Washington's students now enjoy greater teaching benefits in the field of foreign language. Students studying Spanish are able to travel to Puerto Rico to study at the university there. An added facility is the language laboratory, a new concept in foreign language instruction. The laboratory cost approximately $10,000. With its installation, more advanced courses in language are available to Washington's students. Through this device, students are able to develop conversational skills more rapidly and accurately.

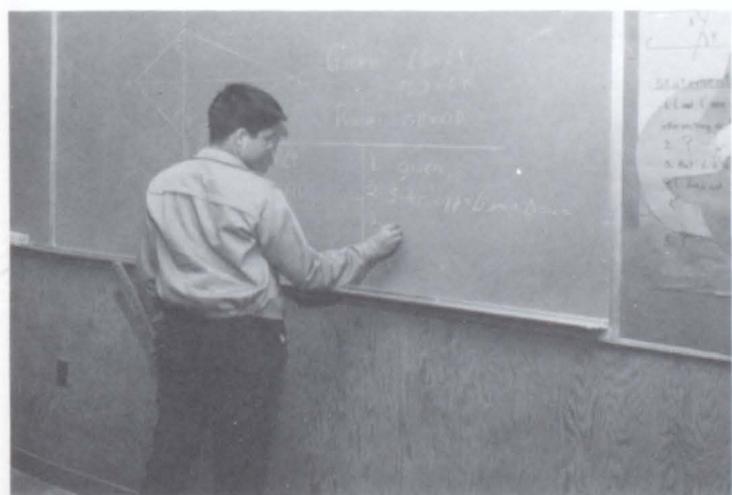

Math IV students solve a calculus problem.

Mr. Karzarinoff demonstrates the use of the slide rule.

S.M.S.G. students learn how to work with graphs.

A geometry student works at proving a theorem.

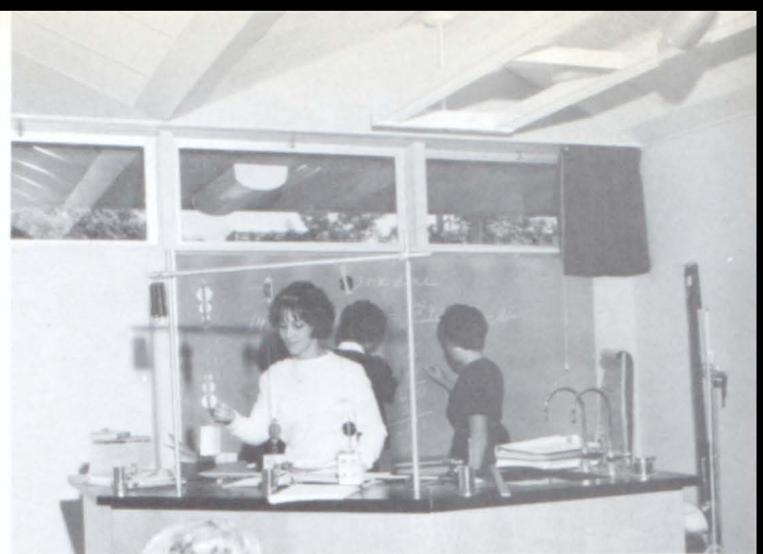

A student reviews the fundamentals of arithmetic.

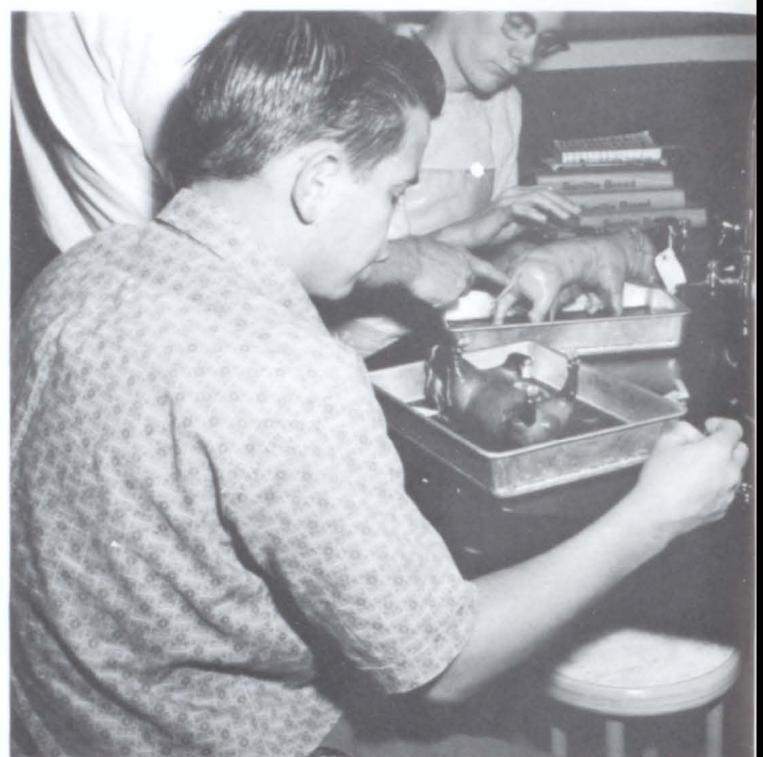

A physics student attempts to determine the defraction of waves.

SCIENCE

The new $256,000 science wing opened this year. Fully equipped with modern laboratories, the science wing also has six classrooms. Science courses offered include Basic Science, General Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Physiology, and Science Seminar. A basic understanding of important concepts in both physical sciences and life sciences may be gained through the general and basic science courses. For college preparatory students of high ability, Biology in the sophomore year and Chemistry in the junior place emphasis on the "scientific method" of investigation. Physics, Physiology, and Science Seminar are offered to those students interested in furthering their knowledge in these fields.

Students explore the principle of the pulley.

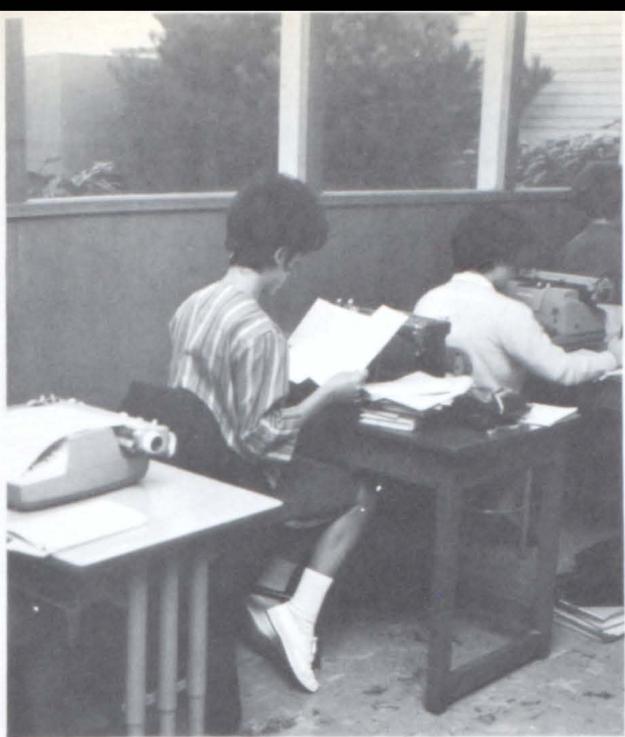

This year's physiology students studied the internal organs of the pig.

A group of students explore chemical properties of silver nitrate.

Electric typewriters are used in advanced classes.

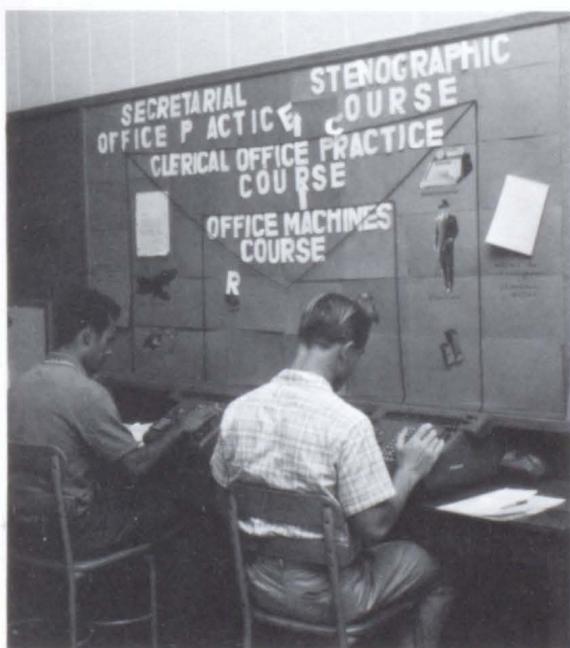

Business papers become familiar to bookkeeping students.

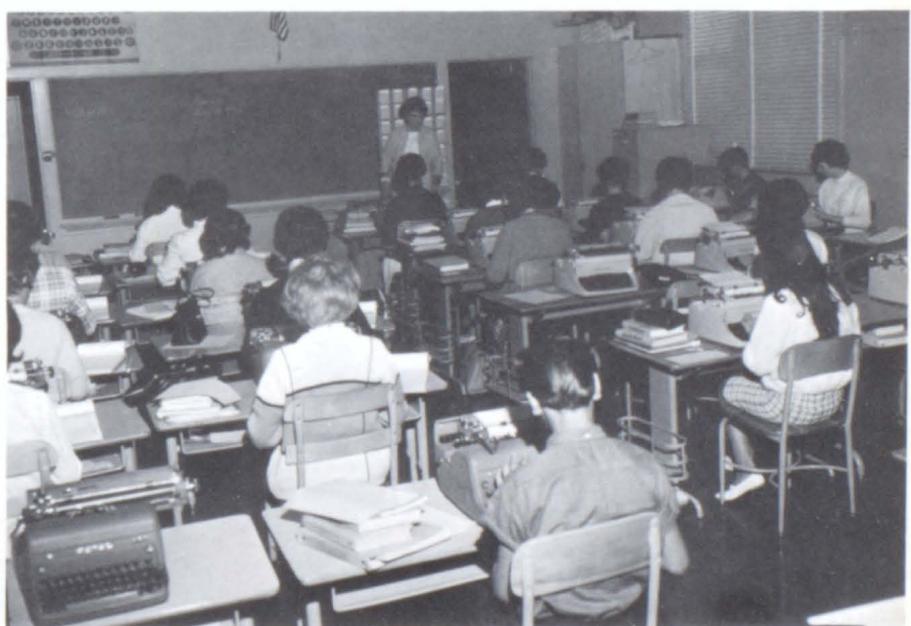

Shorthand is important in business offices.

COMMERCIAL

Students majoring in the commercial field have many classes offered to them. There are opportunities to study different aspects of business. A three hour class was developed this year to prepare girls for actual office work. The first hour is devoted to shorthand dictation to further develop speed and reading of notes. In the second hour typing, shorthand, and English are put together to develop acceptable business skills. Included are associated units on filing, appearance, personality, meeting the public, secretarial equipment, job finding, and job success. Office machines and business math are taught in the third hour.

Students work with modern office machines.

Timed writings are an aid in developing speed.

Charcoal, chalk, and paints are used for various pictures.

Girls learn to perfect their sewing skill

Drafting plays an important role in today's modern world.

ART

Art classes at Washington provide experience for students who have special interests and abilities in this field, a greater understanding of the arts to the student who seeks it as part of his general education. Creative participation enables the student to express his individual thoughts and personality.

HOMEMAKING

The Homemaking Department offers high school girls an introduction to cooking, sewing, child care, and nursing skills. With this basic training, the girls can put their creative abilities to practical use in later life.

MUSIC

Washington has been accredited with many honors and awards for its fine achievements in the field of music. Several different bands and vocal groups have been organized to promote school spirit, play for dances, and give performances.

Cooking is taught in kitchens with the conveniences of home.

Dance Band rehearses popular songs.

Joe Green, drummer, adds rhythmical beat to Dance Band.

Shouts of "Throw them to the lions" echoed on the stage even after the last Christian had been devoured. This year's senior class play Androcles and the Lion was greeted with enthusiastic approval by all who attended. The students aptly displayed their theatrical talents through the direction of Mr. Bertino and the student directors. The class of '63 wishes to express its gratitude to Mr. Bertino for donating so generously his time, effort, and talent to this year's senior play. It was a roaring success.

The Captain pleads with Lavinia to be a respectable Roman lady.

THE GIFT OF THE MAGI

THE FACULTY CHRISTMAS PLAY

An unusual twist was given to O. Henry's sentimental Christmas story, Gift of the Magi. Washington's faculty presented a musical version of this nostalgic tale. Those who attended the faculty's performance peeked in on the marital problems of Jim and Della Young, saw the faculty's version of the "Flamingo Flip," and heard the barbershop quartet's rendition of "My Sugar Is the Salt of the Earth." The proceeds of this benefit were donated to the Washington High School Faculty Club's Scholarship Fund.

CHILDREN'S PLAY

Once again the advanced drama class entertained 1500 eager Fremont children with their spirited production of Hansel and Gretel. From the pages of Grimm's Fairy Tales comes this heart-lightening story of Hansel and Gretel's adventures in the black forest of the wicked witch. Under the direction of James Bertino, assisted by students Diane Martin and Pam Roberts, the story of Hansel and Gretel was brought to life by the fine performances of the students.

All wait anxiously for Mr. Kraler to return, hoping he will not be caught by the Nazis.

Even during such deprivation, they find time to give thanks for what they have.

Though it is very difficult to speak privately, Peter and Anne get a chance to talk alone.

This year Washington's Drama Club presented the outstanding Broadway hit "Diary of Anne Frank." This true to life drama of a group of Jewish families hiding from the Nazis was a challenging production for our students. But the persecution of the Jews in Amsterdam, Holland, during World War II was portrayed very effectively.

Getting on each others' nerves, the two families try desperately to get along together.

The flute section is featured on "Bolero for Band."

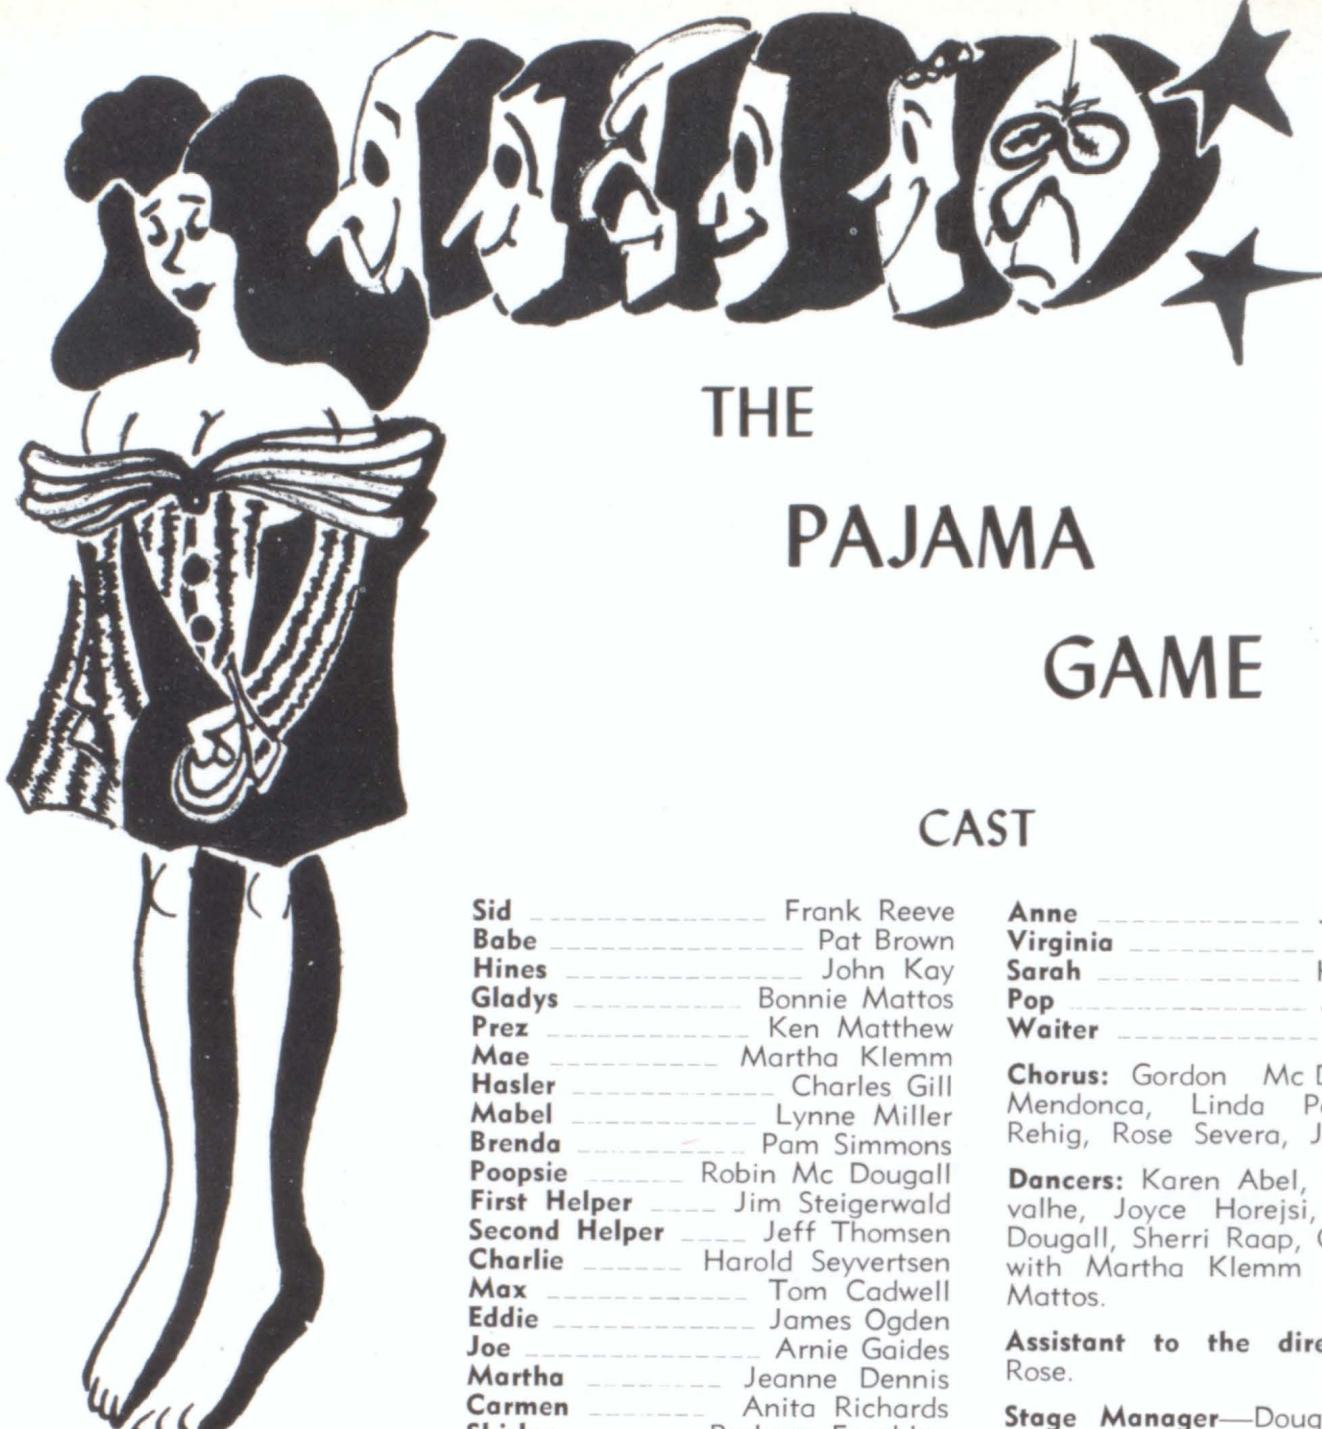

Power in a band comes from the trumpets, supported by the drums.

Mr. Cross works up an appetite just before lunch in a serious rehearsal.

"This is our Once-A-Year Day", sings the full company at the union's annual picnic.

If W.H.S. never sees a pair of Pajamas again it will be fine, for since last February these delicate items have been seen and talked of continuously. It was the year of "The Pajama Game." The biggest show of the fine arts area 1962-1963 season.

Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Cross, general director; Mr. Thornburg, Vocal Director; and Mr. Bertino, Technical Director; a talented company of over 100 people joined forces to sing such tuneful hits as "Hey There," "Steam Heat," and "Hernando's Hideaway." Close to 2300 people enjoyed the thrilling three-night run.

The unlikely novel "7½ Cents" by Richard Bisceu provided the story for this comical return to vaudeville. It involves problems between union workers and management in a small pajama factory, which Abe finally resolves after numerous hysterical scenes and songs. All ends happily when you're in the "Pajama Game."

"Apple! I'm lucky if I can hit the target Board." Hines exclaims, as Gladys tries to stop him, while Babe prepares to be the victim.

"But honestly, the waist button popped!" Hines tries to explain as Sid and Hasler look on.

"Now hurry up girls; can't waste time," Hines tells the factory workers.

Despite a rather dim season the 1962 Washington Huskies can look back on the year with many glorious moments to remember.

One thing that will stand out in their minds will be the regaining of the "Pop" Goold trophy from their cousins from Union City. Some of the high lights of the season can best be capped by each game: Only two minutes remained on the clock when Dick Treglown went high into the air to snag a Rick Johnstone pass for their first 1962 victory against Andrew Hill. Junior full-back, Alex Blanca, rushed for 130 yards to help salvage the triumph. Against new rival Newark High, Blanca grabbed a screen pass and rambled 73 yards to paydirt with Knights in hot pursuit.

Mainly a junior-dominated squad, Washington got tremendous efforts from departing seniors Robbie Vares, Dick Treglown, Bill Cole, Terry Johnson, John Garza, and Dave Froines. Honors were bestowed upon several Huskies who proved to be stars in their own rights. Dick Treglown, Robbie Vares, Alex Blanca and part time guard Dale Mowreader were named to the all-city eleven with Mowreader and Blanca gaining nods both ways. Blanca was a second team all-MHAL selection while Mowreader, Treglown and Rick Haycock made honorable mention. Team awards given out were: co-captains, Dick Treglown and Robbie Vares; most valuable player, Dick Treglown; most valuable lineman, Rick Haycock; most valuable back, Alex Blanca; most inspirational, Dale Mowreader; coaches Award, Irving Rosenberg.

"We gave that extra effort in order to regain the "Pop" Goold trophy," said the majority of the eleven outstanding performers pictured above who were instrumental in Washington's 13-0 triumph over neighboring James Logan. The win brought the trophy back after a year's absence from Huskyville. The Colt-Husky series now stands at two wins apiece.

WASHINGTON vs NEWARK

A 73-yard pass-run touchdown by Alex Blanca went for naught as the Huskies lost a 24-13 heartbreaker to Newark High in the first meeting between the two schools. Blanca, a junior line-plunger, took a screen pass from signal-caller Rich Johnstone and eluded two Knights at midfield and scampered down the sidelines to paydirt with the Knights in hot pursuit. Immediately following intermission, the Huskies needed only four plays to chalk up their second touchdown. This time Blanca and Dick Treglown reeled off big chunks of yardage before the lanky 6'3" Treglown skirted left end for six points. Jim Ingram singled out Blanca, Treglown, Robbie Vares, and Dave Froines for their tremendous output.

WASHINGTON vs IRVINGTON

"We at the Naval Academy don't consider a successful football season unless we beat Army" said a rear admiral a decade ago. The same goes for the Washington Huskies in their annual backyard rivalry with the James Logan Colts. 12 point underdogs going into the classic, the Huskies, living up to their potential, outplayed the Colts in every phase of the game including the score 13-0 as 6,000 frenzied fans raved at every block, tackle, and run the Huskies made. Junior quarterback Rich Johnstone, engineered Washington to paydirt after the ensuing kickoff in just nine plays. With Alex Blanca running inside and senior Dick Treglown sweeping the ends, Jim Ingram's gridders scored with 5:15 left in the first quarter. Blanca capped the long march, bullocking in from the eight. After an exchange of punts, the high-flying Huskies hit the scoreboard again; this time Johnstone scored standing up from the five on a quarterback keeper. Tackle Rich Haycock split the uprights for the PAT.

Irvington Hi fashioned a 18-12 triumph over our hard-luck Huskies for their first win of the year, despite outstanding efforts by Dick Treglown, Dale Mowreader, Robbie Vares and John Garza. Junior halfback Dale Mowreader tallied his first varsity touchdown rambling over would-be tacklers for six big points. Holding a 12-6 lead at halftime, Washington just plainly ran out of gas to the high-flying Vikings. Another junior, Alex Blanca, carried in for the other score. Despite the loss, the Huskies defense had the crowd on the edge of their seats all evening with their fierce tackling and desire, but Irvington was not denied and walked off with the victory.

After a slow start Norm Stelle's Puppies put together a potent offensive attack to go with their stinging defense and knocked off rivals Newark and Irvington to end the season on a winning note.

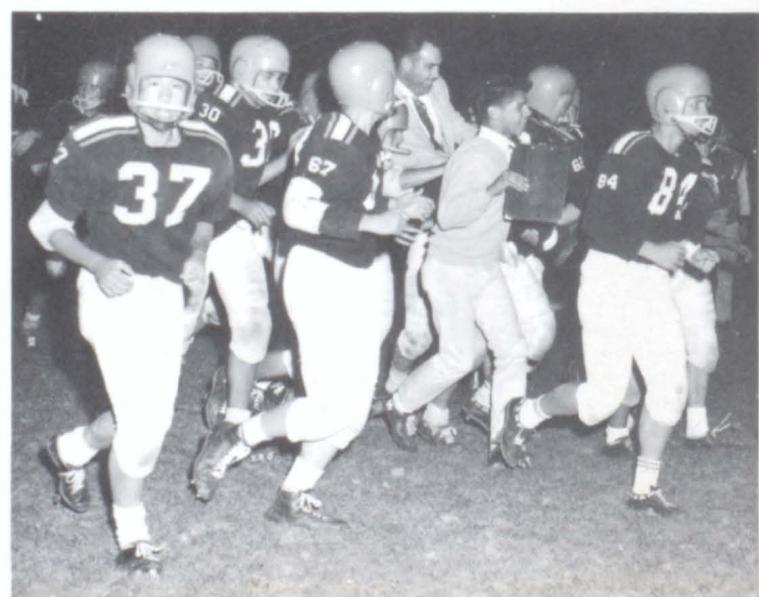

Led by all-league choice, Terry Smith, the Puppies steamrolled over Newark 2-0. The sophomore half-back tallied three touchdowns and the conversion for a perfect evening.

Scoring at will the Puppies did everything but sell and collect tickets at the gate as they easily drubbed the James Logan Ponies 27-0.

Smith was the only first-team pick while Dave Avila, Steve Rogers and Bob Arrington placed on the second club.

Coaching the basketball team for the first time this year, Coach Garrison, with his band of determined Huskies combined courage, skill, and great athletic sportsmanship to end the season in a tie for fifth place in the Mount Hamilton Athletic League. The fact that the Huskies were the shortest team in the league appeared to be a handicap; they proved, however, that it wasn't, by being the only team in the district to finish in the first division. Defeating Logan and Irvington, the high-spirited Huskies also took a fifty per cent interest of the district throne.

Probably the most amazing and furiously played game of the year was that which ended in the defeat of San Jose High. With only one second left to play, Robbie Vares sunk an unbelievable shot from half court to put the Huskies in the lead by one point. This game is sure to be remembered for a long time to come.

Dick Treglown, most valuable player in the district, put his name in the school records as the greatest scorer in the history of Washington. Individual honors bestowed on other team members were: Most Improved Player—Darryl Reina; Team Captain and Most Inspirational—Roy August; and Most Valuable Player and Co-Captain—Dick Treglown.

WASHINGTON vs. NEWARK

Washington received a 66-62 jolt at the hands of hot-shooting Newark High in the first basketball game between the two district rivals. Robbie Vares, 6'1" senior, scorched the net for twenty points, keeping the spirited Huskies within striking distance before a crowd of 1700 screaming fans. Washington crept within a bucket and then with a single shot Vares brought the score to 36-all. However Newark managed to move out in front once more, and Washington encountered its first Mount Hamilton League loss to the Knights but not before the Huskies put on the dazzling display of markmanship.

WASHINGTON vs. LOGAN

In this most memorable game, Washington seemed to follow the same victorious pattern as they called upon student body proxy, Greg Watson to pull it out of the bag, giving the fast surging Huskies a 31-25 win (over their bitter rival, Irvington), and a share of the Washington Union High School District crown. The win—knocking Irvington from the unbeaten list for district squads—shoved Washington upwards onto the high pedestal for a 50 percent interest to the throne. Dick Treglown, who put his name in the school record books as the greatest scorer in the history of Washington, succeeded in putting the Huskies in the lead for the first time that afternoon; and then Watson intervened and added his contribution. Treglown showed why he was most valuable player last year tallying 13 points in the low-scoring fracas which saw some highly-spirited Husky contingents come from behind for a glorious triumphant victory.

Ray Garrison and his band of revitalized Huskies, led by mighty Dick Treglown, journeyed cross-town to Union City to give the James Logan Colts a point or two on the fine art of basketball. Washington's great Huskies returned home with their second straight victory of 47-41. Garrison's crew banking in shots from every angle, could do nothing wrong the opening quarter while holding the Colts at an almost complete standstill. Although they were outmanned in the department, the Huskies made up for it with their outstanding and fierce tactics. Robbie Vares, Roy August, Darrell Reina, and Greg Watson all were standouts in their own right. This win gave Washington's Varsity its second consecutive triumph over the Colts.

The 1962 cross country season saw the Husky distance runners cop an unprecedented fifth straight title and rank them one of the nation's best.

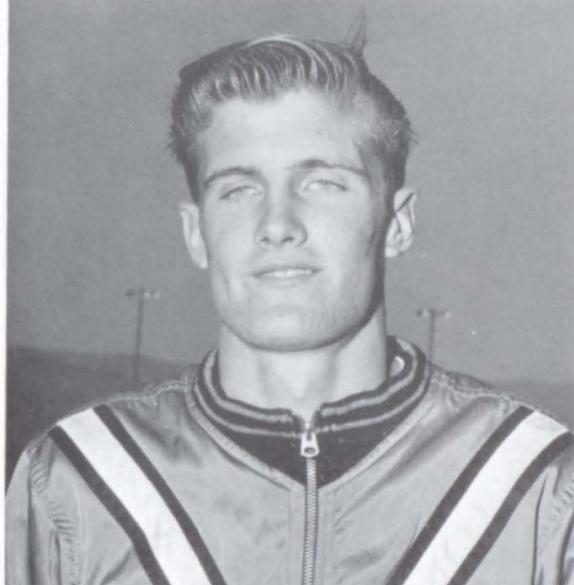

Producing as many as two outstanding runners a year, Wil King kept his record intact with heralded Bruce Morse, Ron Selbo, and Roy Blea waltzing their contingent to the league title. By season's end, Morse had developed into one of northern California's top runners.

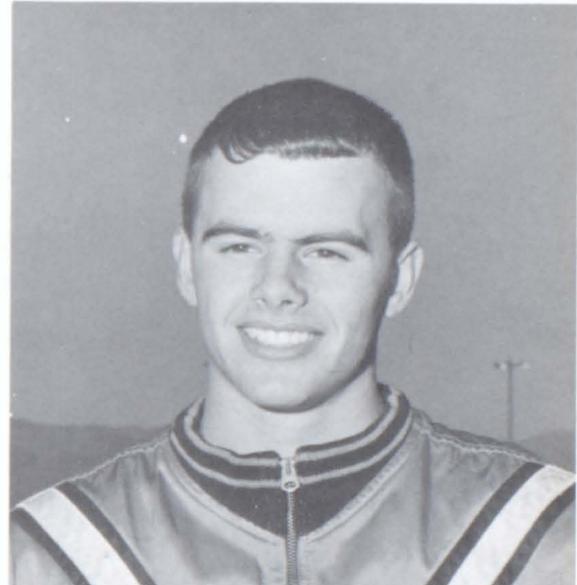

Coach: WIL KING

Although plagued by various injuries, the Huskies still managed to breeze through the season with only two losses. Looking for the future, King developed many fine runners who will be welcomed back. Freshmen's Mitch Silva and Tom Moore turned in creditable jobs for first-year men.

Supplying the needed incentive to lower their times were Tony Garcia, Chet Lloyd, Ron Clitherow, Danny Garcia, Wayne Lewis, Jesse Greenlee and Geary Burruss. Blea was selected captain.

Superbly representing Washington in both potential and spirit was the Varsity Track Team led by Coach King. The fact that the track team suffered somewhat from lack of depth did not hinder the enthusiasm of our determined Huskies. Outstanding performers in the league included: Chet Lloyd in the mile; Rod Selbo in the 880; Randy Ranoa in the broadjump; Jim Henderson in the 100 and 220; and Alan Reshel in the pole vault and high jump. The team was also greatly aided by Bruce Morse in the mile, John Barraras in the 440, Jim Vaughan in the high jump and low hurdles, Herb Veglahn in the discus and shot put, John Rosenberg in the shot put, and Bob Shaw in the high and low hurdles.

Without a doubt, the Washington Huskies rank as one of the top water polo powerhouses in northern California year in and year out.

And this year was no exception.

Bob Eustis and his band of Husky water poloists swept through Mount Hamilton Athletic League competition with an unblemished record for the third consecutive year and, as usual, dominated the mythical squad placing high school All-American's junior Sky Van Scoy, senior goalie Mike Mayland and senior defensive star Allen Logan. VanScoy and Mayland were selected along with 40 other top water polo players throughout the nation for this outstanding honor.

Stressing a stingy defense, Washington dealt nemesis James Lick a crushing 11-7 defeat giving the proud Huskies the crown for another year to reign among their many championship pennants. Van Scoy literally burned the nets game after game with his uncanny shots to give his mates easy victories. He also was the league's scoring champ. Mayland, a 6-1, 160 pound goalie, and team captain, proved a tough man for opponents to score and Logan time and again had the job of guarding the opposition's ace scorer. Logan was elected most valuable player while Van Scoy was selected the league's offensive star.

The Frosh-Soph didn't fare as well as their counterparts, but gave indication that next year's varsity will be top contenders. Although dropping in the standings from the past year's, the Huskies F-S had a few bright spots. Sophomore, David McCrary, was unstoppable in league action scoring almost at will. For his outstanding efforts McCrary was accorded laurels on the all-league squad. He also was voted captain and most valuable player by his teammates for a job well done. Fray Heath received second-team honors. Dennis Duarte and Don Prior shone at different intervals during the season.

Swimming and diving meets are won by events. For this reason, individual power is important. The Huskies have several outstanding swimmers and divers. (Freestyle—Al Logan and Sky Van Scy, Backstroke—Dave Warner and Berry Wood, Breaststroke—John Brady, and Butterfly—Roger Buehler.) Prospects for top position in the league standings are good with the Huskies being expected to finish in a tie for 1st or 2nd place.

The Frosh-Soph team furnishes promise for the future Varsity Huskies. They have shown up favorably in competition and are expected to finish 3rd or 4th in the league. Among the top swimmers in their individual events are G. Young and R. Rapp, backstroke; S. Nelson, R. Howe, and F. Heath, freestyle; and Individual Medley, G. Young and R. Keller.

The 1963 version of the Husky baseball team revealed a comparatively young, but hustling group of ball players, with as many as four Sophomores appearing in the starting line-up in early season games.

Pitching is definitely the team's greatest asset, with Junior Rick Johnstone and Senior Dick Treglown outstanding in this important department. Larry Hollums, smooth fielding Junior shortstop, has sparked defensively, while Senior Co-Captain Robbie Vares and Sophomore Doug Ladd have led the team offensively. Coach Snyder feels that if his young players can come through with some timely hitting and sound fielding, Washington could field a fine representative team before this year's season comes to a close.

Three of the B's outstanding pitchers wind up for a fast ball.

Washington's Frosh-Soph Baseball team proved to be a great asset to our athletic record this year. They have represented Washington in superb style and with the leadership of Coach Ingram are expected to finish with top honors. Among some of those showing great potential are Al Adams and Russ Young, pitchers; Dave Avila, Russ Ferguson and Jim Miller, fielders.

The Girls Athletic Association, or G.A.A., has long been an active part of the extra curricular activities at Washington High School. The members of G.A.A. spend one afternoon a week practicing the various seasonal sports. Among these are volleyball, softball, basketball, and speed-a-way. At the end of each season the girls enjoy one afternoon of free play. At the start of the year under the direction of advisor, Miss Goldsworthy, the members nominate a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer to office. Then each class elects representatives and thus the G.A.A. board is formed.
